CITY MATTERS.

Brief Notes on Current Events of Minor

Interest.

HANDSOME lithograph advertising "Hazel

Kirk" are displayed.

PERSONS were examined yesterday by Dr. Hildreth, Hazlett and Hupp.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening.

OFFICER RANNEY shot a dog on Market street yesterday. He said he was in the act of killing it when it sprang upon him.

DISTRICT VICE PRESIDENT THOMPSON, of the Associated Association, was over at Martin's Ferry yesterday inaugurating a new lodge at the Laughlin mill.

Only excitement in East Wheeling yesterday was occasioned by the frisks of a horse which was hauling ties for the Elm Grove railway. He did no damage.

The air last night had a feeling which induced many would-be Wigwags to predict rain before noon today. It came before midnight—15 minutes before.

The success of the Hamilton benefit by Herns' "Hearts of Oak" Company at the Opera House March 10, is already assured by the large advance sale of tickets.

The state at headquarters last night showed that parolman Laughlin had one prisoner for loitering around the door at Shay's Academy of Music, and Officer Bird had a drunk.

CLARK KNOX yesterday admitted to record a portion due of the Maxwell estate, and instead made by the vestry of the Church Association to T. M. Maxwell for a lot in said cemetery.

SOME citizens who have had their synopa-ses edited by the Eastern Army, proposed to petition Congress to donate to the Army the use of the Second Ward Market place for their meetings, the gentlemen referred to agreeing to see a bill.

The company supporting Kate Paxton this season in "The Two Orphans" is spoken of by the press of cities where it has appeared as an unusually strong one. It will be the attraction at the Opera House for Saturday evening and Saturday afternoon.

A MAX named Kane, employed at the Top mill, had a narrow escape from a serious if not fatal accident yesterday. A heavy pin drew out of a large fly wheel, and struck him in the head, where it felt the wind from it, imbedded itself deeply in a timber.

It does not take a Venor nor a Wigwag to predict the biggest storm that has visited this region for a year, and lots of them about the first of April—domestic storms.

Already the warning sound of carpet beating is occasionally heard from a back yard.

ABOUT 10 o'clock last evening a burglar entered the residence of John Dill, corner

Main and Tenth streets, by a rear entrance. He was discovered by a plucky servant girl, who procured a revolver and banished away at the intruder. He left in a hurry, but with several vests will be on sale this morning at 10 A. M. at Wells & Dent's, Bridgeport, for the Hamilton benefit, by Herns' "Hearts of Oak" Company. Persons desiring to purchase should early for her recent appearance in that city in terms of the highest praise. The fact that Leocia is the author of the opera is sufficient voucher for its character.

The Secretary of State yesterday issued certificates of incorporation to the "Fairfield

Coal Company" and the "Fairfield Telephone Company" of Fairfield, in Kanawha county.

The former proposes to do a coal business and shipping business, and has a capital stock of $50,000, of which $2,000 has been subscribed. The incorporators are John W. F. Frazier, Jr., and wife, of Pittsburgh, who has a capital stock of $5,000, with $300 taken; proposes to construct and operate a telephone between Fairfield and Fairbairn.

The incorporators are the same as in the other company.

Yesterday morning a wild looking individual caused considerable excitement on Thirtieth street by running up and down the street, shouting and waving a flag around him. He was dressed in a suit of the latest fashion, and was carrying a bag in his hand. He was seen by Officer Combs, who overhauled the fellow, who had the name of John C. Heenan, and had been trained by John C. Heenan, and had been

THE FAMILY MARKET.

Home Features and Flashes of Timely

Interest.

In these days when the state of the market makes the search for variety on the family bill of fare a brain-racking and spirit-worrying task, it is an amusing sight to see the frequenters of one of the city markets heating up in the hope of finding a dealer who has some thing to sell which all his neighbors has not, and which cannot be found in all the groceries in town. It is a suggestive fact that people are enough to crowd the Upper Market, and leave their beds at 5 A. M. these days, and through the market house, when they can get everything they desire. Some of them go for a short time, but much of the patronage arises from a waning superstition that everything sold in the market is fresh from farm or dairy.

Yesterday's attendance was up to the average, both in dealers and purchasers. The only recent additions to the variety on the stand are kale and spinach. These have come in within a week, and sell at 40 cents a peck.

"This looks like the same stock you had Saturday," said a lady to a market man yesterday.

"Well," was the response, and the speaker winked at a delayed newspaper, and then said: "I don't expect to see potatoes that were dug yesterday, strawberries and green apples? Or were you looking for string beans?"

"There's something in that," mused the lady, and she ordered a peck of potatoes, a quart of soup beans, three dozen eggs and a pound of butter, paid for them, took up a heavy basket and started to walk toward squares with a load that would not have cost any more delivered from the nearest corner grocery.

The man told the reporter that in a week or two more new potatoes and young onions—both from Bermuda—would tempt the epicure to deplete his purse for a handful of dollars.

In this season, the market is full of no no temptations. Potatoes, which last fall were promised at a fabulously cheap price all this season, are now sold at 10 cents a bushel.

Cabbages are unusually fine, bring 50 cents. Cabbages in general are slow sale at 25 cents, and parcelai are now sold at 30 cents a bushel, and in staple demand at 25. Celery is scarce, but not high—two bunches for 25 cents. Old onions are 30 cents a peck, and Bermuda onions 10 cents a quart, and Lima beans 15 cents.

Eggs, which a week ago were 30 cents a dozen, tumbled one day to 25, the next to 20 cents a peck, at which price oranges are a popular substitute, ranging from 25 to 30 cents a dozen for different varieties. Lemons are 25 and 30.

This is probably the most difficult season of the year for housekeepers to provide for the table. In another month the markets will be more varied, and in six weeks the
